Product Description

Ethernet CAT.8 Double Shielded SFTP 40G 24AWG Copper Patch Cable

Ethernet CAT.8 Double Shielded SFTP 40G 24AWG Copper Patch Cable is a category 8 Ethernet cable designed to support a transmission speed of 40Gbps, suitable for data centers and high-performance network equipment. The 24AWG conductor diameter can withstand high current and signal transmission, while the SFTP structure provides stronger anti-interference performance for the product, making it suitable for use in environments with strong electromagnetic interference. It used for direct connections between devices, such as switches, routers, servers, etc. This copper patch cable is mainly used in high-speed, low latency network environments to ensure the stability and speed of data transmission.

FiberMania CAT.8 SFTP supports the highest data transfer rate and bandwidth frequency of any RJ45 network cable. It allows for 2GHz an incredible transfer speed providing for quality-enhancing massive headroom. With its feature, it'll be a cost-effective alternative to SFP+ cables.
